

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE PAID TO MRS. J. C. CANTRILL

Daisy Fitzhugh Ayers, of Washington, D. C., prominent in the field of journalism, pays the following brilliant tribute to Mrs. J. C. Cantrill, deceased wife of the Congressman from the Seventh Kentucky district:

"The Kentucky colony in Washington and all the myriad other friends of that exceptionally winsome woman, Mrs. James Campbell Cantrill, wife of the Congressman from the Seventh District, are grieving at her death. The blow is a shock to the Southern coterie here, of which she was such an inspiration and an ornament. All through last winter and late into the spring, Mrs. Cantrill, beautiful, sympathetic, animated, was a vivid, whole-souled factor in social life."

"No one suspected that the mortal putting out of this sweet womanhood was so near at hand."

"The writer left her, with a heavy heart, in Asheville, in August. The dear patient was more radiant than ever, her intellectual hold on life and love and all the beautiful things it meant to her, more vital. She lay like a slender rosebud amidst her pillows, encased in pink, her flushed cheeks, fatally fair, fanned by the balsam-scented mountain breezes. Her big brown eyes glowed brilliantly—too brilliantly. Her earthly beauty had borrowed from the celestial. But the old, brave spirit was undaunted. 'I'm going home in September, anyhow,' she eagerly proclaimed. 'You must be sure to come to see me when you come to Kentucky,'—bright and hospitable to the end."

"Close and sacred was the affection between Carrie Payne Cantrill and her idolizing husband. Their honeymoon had never waned."

"Thousands of hands go out in a fellowship of sorrow to this bereaved good man who has lost so much, and to the young son who was his mother's pride."

BILL BOARD IN PARIS CARRIES "UPLIFT" PICTURE.

Paris citizens are interested in the fine lithograph production of the birth of Christ, on the bill board at the corner of Main and Seventh streets, although very few knew what its appearance meant. They are being posted all over the country.

The lithographs were printed by the American Lithographic Company free of cost and were posted by the National Billposters' Association forested at this time.

Later lithographs depicting scenes in the life of General U. S. Grant will be posted. The picture has attracted much favorable comment. A footnote to it says: "Ask your Sunday school teacher to tell you about this picture."

SHIRE & FITHIAN.*PAROLED CONVICT AGAIN IN JAIL FOR STEALING TURKEYS.

Loss Holman, a paroled convict, was arrested yesterday on the charge of stealing turkeys from George Bramel and is in jail awaiting trial. Holman was taken into custody yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriffs J. O. Marshall and W. F. Talbott. Holman, it is alleged had the turkeys concealed and was awaiting the arrival of a dealer from this city, who it is said had contracted with him several days ago for the purchase of the fowls. Holman represented that he lived on a farm on the Hume & Bedford pike, and was awaiting the arrival of the Paris dealer when his actions aroused suspicions and prompted an investigation which revealed a number of turkeys concealed in a culvert. About six months ago he was paroled from the Frankfort prison, where he was serving a sentence for a similar offense, being sent up from this county.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)
A man likes to say that he despises flattery. But he is a cheerful liar. When a fool man sees a new baby for the first time and is too bashful to admit that it looks like a monkey, he can always get out of it gracefully by saying it has a fine head.
